CATHEDRAL

Every man in his own way walks lonely in this life

But each man proves he is a man

When lonely he can walk

Dedicated to the memory of the good years.

From their posts at the front of the room,
They teach the leaders of the future;
They bring into existence theories
That would puzzle the world of yesterday,
And yet bore the world of tomorrow.

This is their job, their choice of living . . .
This is what they want to do.
Lonely they wander a corridor of lost and Growing minds . . .
Here they will walk telling of the knowledge
That was once told to them . . .

Here are the chalk-covered educators of the world.

Sister Lumena

Commencement is apt to be an emotional time, embracing both relief and fear, embodying hope and dreams. I'm a believer in dreams. I admired John Fitzgerald Kennedy because he could inspire young people to a belief in their own dreams; I loved Martin Luther King because he had a dream and moved steadily in the direction of its fulfillment and I responded strongly to Robert Francis Kennedy's challenge of "Why not?" to America's impossible dream.

Now commencement opens before you as a symbol of hope in the future. But history shows that the future is definitely tied up with dreams of the past. Somewhere in that future lies your life's work and each day of your life is in one way or another a preparation for it. No doubt your own native ability will to a certain measure determine what that work will be. But there are few jobs in which ability alone is sufficient. Of equal importance are loyalty, honesty, fair play, sincerity, and drive. I would like to think that Cathedral High School has in some measure helped you to develop these qualities and to this extent has given you some preparation for your future life's work. I would like to think that Cathedral High has helped you to develop some basic beliefs, and has given you the desire to make some commitments founded on those beliefs. Finally, I would like to think that Cathedral High School has given you a faith in the future strong enough to urge you to pursue a dream, your dream, with the living conviction that it is not impossible.

Sister Lumena

One of the saddest and most joyful moments in the life of a school's faculty is graduation time. Almost overnight, the 'children' become young men and women. As they receive their diplomas, the warmth and joy in the heart of a teacher knows no bounds.

There is a tinge of sadness, however, for the future is nebulous. Many thoughts go through the minds of the faculty - thoughts revolving around the themes 'Did I give my best?,' 'Did they absorb enough?,' and 'Will they put it to good use?'

The value and contributions of a school are measured by the lives of its students. To the extent that they are successful as measured by Christian criteria, to that extent has Cathedral High School accomplished its mission. You are now and always will be a living memorial to our school.

With an earnest request for God's blessings and a sincere pledge of a remembrance in our prayers and hearts, we bid you Godspeed. May the peace only Christ can give be your constant companion!

"Do You Remember . . ."

When Earl and Sock It both scored in the same game?
The "Miss Cathedral" contest?
When Tom Broderick was hopping along on crutches?
When we all prayed for Earl's "speedy recovery"?
The disappointment we got when we saw our "awful looking guidance counselors?
The last time a game was won by our football team?
When "EARL!" was our battle cry?
The continuing story of Peyton High?
When Mr. Beau Fab became a father?
When the nuns changed their habits?
Our first celebration of Sadie Hawkins Day?
Alternate schedule on Tuesdays?
Tom Powers' burlesque show?
Tiny Tom Broderick as Santa Claus at the senior Christmas party?
The Brotherhood?
Hats from Jimmy the Thiefs?
"Da, da, da, da, da, da, da, here's . . ."
"Corridor Patrol" on the senior floor?
When dancing with a senior was a privilege?
Does anyone remember choral?
Rides in the elevator?
Mr. Costantini's Simon Says classes?
CHS beanie copters?
Fire drills in 10° weather?
The food fights in caf?
Your grand tour of the library?

The years of high school are closing,
The days of the cavalier ...
ending,
The hours have passed us by.

How lonely are the corridors Once packed with the spirit of youth - How silently it awaits the fall's new faces.

Here together we've walked Pushing our way to the next class;
Here among the clanging of lockers,
We exchange greetings and smiles.

Look back and recall how small
You felt the very first day, Now you can relive the call of freshman,
And the pride you felt when you didn't look back.

Finally, we all remember those tiring climbs to the fourth floor,
Where the feeling of being on top became reality.

Now we descend taking with us our memories and yet the corridor is empty.

President

Time marches on! Faster than any of us had anticipated. Now we must say a reluctant farewell to this school which we have all learned to love and respect.

We stand ready and eager to reach for that goal toward which we have been striving so earnestly for four years. But do we fully realize the responsibility that is ours? Cathedral has established for itself an enviable reputation and we, the Class of 1969, must maintain that high standard.

Each of us will, in a sense, embark on a journey into the future, alone. Each will meet problems that must be solved individually. Whatever the difficulties, whatever the tasks which confront us in the future, the knowledge, courage, and skill which have inspired us during our high school days will firmly stand by us.

As weeks lengthen into months, and months into years, time may well dim the memories we have of each other, but it cannot dim the fond memories of our alma mater, nor of the interested faculty whose patience and tolerance has constantly edified us. May we make some return for this dedication by the good lives we will lead so that through us, the Class of 1969, the Devine Teacher may be pleased with us. Let us begin.

It's Thursday afternoon ...
Last period is beginning ...
Each student scrambles
Now
To their next class.

No ... wait
Not "class" ...
That doesn't fit ...
This time set aside
Is not for any course ...
It's a gathering,
An expansion
In culture, language, or the arts.

Now is a time ... for living a country,
For finding a meaning ... Perhaps the feeling Felt in "The Pieta" ...
For being with good friends,
Friends whom you have grown to love.

A new door, on whose threshold we now stand.
Now is the time for making it alone, not just
For making it . . .
Now
Is

Aim for a star
Never be satisfied
With a life less than the best.
Failure lies only
In not having tried -
In keeping the soul Suppressed.

Aim for a star!
Look up and away,
And follow its beckoning beam,
Make each Tomorrow,
a better Today
And don't be afraid to dream.

Aim for a star, and keep your sights high!
With a heart full of faith within,
Your feet on the ground,
and your eyes on the sky.
Someday you are bound to win.
